MEMORIAL SERVICES

FOR

JAMES A. BURKE

Proceedings in the House

THURSDAY, October 20, 1983.

Mr. DONNELLY. Mr. Speaker, this evening we pause to pay tribute to former Congressman JAMES A. BURKE. JIM served his Nation in this institution for 20 years as a Representative of the 11th District of Massachusetts. Sadly, JIMMY BURKE passed away 1 week ago at the age of 73. Almost all of his adult life was spent in public service.

JAMES ANTHONY BURKE was born in South Boston, Mass., on Mar. 30, 1910, the youngest of 10 children. He was raised and lived in the Boston neighborhoods of Mattapan and Hyde Park. His career in public office began in 1937 when he was elected to the Massachusetts House of Representatives. The next year he was appointed registrar of vital statistics for the city of Boston.

During World War II, he served as a special agent in Army counterintelligence in the South Pacific for 2 years. By the end of the war, he had earned many decorations, including four battle stars.

For JIM BURKE, a return to Massachusetts meant a return to political life. He was elected once again to the legislature. There he rose to the position of assistant majority leader under then Massachusetts House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill.

In 1954, he narrowly missed the nomination for Lieutenant Governor. Four years later, he bounced back, running for Congress from a district that had never sent a Democrat to Washington. This time, it did.

The majority leader in the House of Representatives at the time JIM BURKE arrived was another Bostonian, John W. McCormack. The two had become well acquainted 16 years earlier, when JIM had challenged Congressman McCormack for reelection. That first campaign for Congress had succeeded in giving JIM a wealth of humorous stories he could tell on himself in later years.

With John McCormack's help, JIM BURKE obtained a seat on the Ways and Means Committee. From that platform, he engineered some of the most important and humane legislation ever crafted in this historic institution.

JIMMY BURKE saw only one purpose to his service in government: to help people, the elderly and the less fortunate, the people who lived on fixed incomes and the people who faced the loss of their jobs. JIM's dedication to that purpose led to an impressive record of achievement: Medicare, medicaid, supplementary security income for the elderly and the blind and the disabled. It led to the indexation of social security benefits at a time the country faced a prolonged period of high inflation that threatened to devastate the elderly on fixed incomes.

No matter how much responsibility, power, or seniority he achieved, JIM BURKE the man did not change. Colleagues, constituents, staffers, interns, House personnel all remember him as a man who treated everyone as an equal. Everyone who knew him saw the same JIM BURKE always there to help out in time of difficulty always ready with an appropriate word of humor or encouragement.

As one of his former constituents, and as the one who had the great honor to succeed him as the Congressman from the 11th District I can attest to the overriding importance JIMMY BURKE placed on the welfare of the people who elected him. The door to his office in the Quincy Post Office was open to all, and his efforts on behalf of his constituents are legendary. No problem was too small for him to handle personally, but two of the larger problems faced by his district will serve to illustrate his humanity and his style.

The economy of the 11th District was largely built around the shoe and textile industries. While JIM BURKE served here, those industries came under intense pressure from cheap foreign imports and cheap foreign labor. He drafted and introduced tough trade legislation that would have imposed strict quotas and tariffs to roll back the tide of imports. JIM BURKE weathered the criticism of his protectionist proposal. He admitted the Burke-Hartke bill was not going to become law. But he never had to admit failure, because his efforts had focused attention on the impact that imports were having on American jobs and resulted in a tougher and fairer trade policy for this Nation.

The largest heavy industry in the 11th District is shipbuilding, and specifically the Fore River Shipyard in Quincy. Keeping the shipyard open despite tough times in that industry was an important priority for JIM.

Reporter Jack Keough of the Quincy, Mass., Patriot-Ledger wrote the story this way a few days ago:

> Several years ago, while covering a strike at the General Dynamics Shipyard in Quincy, I received a telephone call at home on Saturday afternoon from U.S. Representative JAMES A. BURKE.
> Despite being in a Maryland hospital for amputation of his leg, BURKE wanted to know the status of negotiations that had taken place that morning.
> What are you doing calling me now, JIM? I asked.
> You've got enough problems without worrying about the shipyard.

There was a pause, then BURKE told me:

> My boy, maybe I don't have my leg any more and I'll never end up kicking field goals for the Patriots. But there're guys down there that have to keep food on the tables for their families. That yard has to stay open. I'm going to do everything I can to see that it does.

That was the kind of guy JIMMY BURKE was. He cared about people.

JIMMY BURKE's constituents, his many friends, working people, and the elderly across our Nation have had their lives touched by him. Because he was a quiet and humble man most of those who have benefited from his service here have never known his name.

In the district he served for 20 years, though, everyone knows his name and remembers him with fondness and gratitude. In the town of Milton, where he lived for many years, a park and a large granite monument were dedicated in his honor in 1981. And just 1 year ago, the Quincy Post Office where he maintained his district office for 20 years was named by Congress in his honor.

There is one other monument to him in his district that is more in keeping with the man, though. It is the James A. Burke scholarship fund he set up not long before his death to help the parents who want to send their children to the schools of St. Gregory's Church in Dorchester, St. Angela's Church in Mattapan, and St. Mary of the Hills Church of Milton.

JIMMY BURKE was a friend and my mentor. I am deeply saddened by his passing. My deepest sympathies go to his dear wife, Aileen McDonald Burke, and to his entire family.

Mr. Speaker, at this time I would be most honored to yield to the distinguished Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, who went to the State legislature with Mr. BURKE in 1937, the Honorable Thomas P. O'Neill.

Mr. O'NEILL. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman for having this hour in which we pay homage to an old and dear friend.

There are so many colleagues in our Massachusetts delegation who have served with JIMMY BURKE before. JIMMY did two different terms in the State legislature. He came in and stayed for 4 years, and then ran for the Congress. He was unsuccessful at that time. He became a commissioner of births and marriages in the city of Boston, and at a later date came back and went to the legislature again. In 1954 he was our nominee for Lieutenant Governor.

In 1958, of course, he came to the Congress of the United States.

JIM and I were very close. We were elected to the Massachusetts House the same year, 1936—and then we served here in the Congress together for 20 years.

Millie and I were deeply saddened when we learned of JIM's passing. We will miss his loyal friendship and his wonderful humor, and we will miss his candor and his courage.

Eddie Boland and I had the pleasure of serving with him many years ago. We went to the legislature at the same time, and I recall that Leo Diehl, who is my administrative assistant, and myself, Joe Duffy and a half dozen of us, all in the age bracket of being lower than 25 years old, and youth kind of attracts itself to each other, so JIMMY and I were exceptionally great friends and had been friends through the years.

We can talk about any part of JIMMY's career here. There was a bit of mirth and a bit of humor in whatever he did, like the time he ran against John McCormack and McCormack, of course, about 3 days before the election, was named the majority leader of the House and it was the blazing headlines in the newspaper. JIMMY's campaign, he said, if he had one, went out the window that day. In the experience that he received from that, to think that he and John McCormack would later become allies in public life and very, very close personal friends.

JIM's first venture into politics, of course, was into the State legislature, but he was one of the key factors in electing Mayor Maurice Tobin as the mayor of the city. He had been a boyhood pal with Maurice Tobin.

One thing about JIM, JIM sure did know and appreciate loyalties. To have JIM as a friend, you had a strong right arm.

I know all of my colleagues want to talk. I had the pleasure and the honor the other day of being asked by the family to give the eulogy at the mass in his behalf and I include that eulogy in the Record at this point.

The eulogy follows:

EULOGY TO THE HONORABLE JAMES BURKE BY THOMAS P. O'NEILL, JR., SPEAKER, U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

JIM BURKE was an old-fashioned fellow. He loved his hometown, his State, his country, and the world. He loved sunshine, a smile, and people. He was:

Courageous and yet gentle;

A man of dignity and charm;

Gallant and with a graceful manner;

Sharp and keen and clean of mind;

A masculine, tough, loveable American; and

A man with an effervescent and bubbling personality and sense of humor.

He lived by his political slogans—a man of care and concern; strong, sensitive, and sensible.

JIM and I were elected the same day to the State legislature—in 1936. We served both in the local house and the Congress for many years together. Deep in his loyalties, I have had the benefit of his knowledge, judgement, and friendship for nearly 50 years.

Whatever manner of means by which they measure a man in the House of Representatives, it takes but a short time. JIM BURKE won the respect and admiration of his fellow colleagues.

I remember the pleasantries of bygone days—JIMMY always used the same picture in his political campaign. We believed it was his confirmation picture. When told he looked older than his picture, JIM would say, "Hundreds of voters never see me. The picture shows me young of heart, mind, and looks"! JIM in public life never did get old—too busy.

When Members of Congress complained of long hours, being away from home, or how tough the job was, JIMMY would reply—"Bud, it's better than heavy lifting" or, "they did not beg you to take the job".

JIM BURKE set out to be a politician. An excellent orator and debater, he brought to the House the ideas, the hopes, the feelings, and the dreams of those he represented. He was a creature of emotions and feelings.

JIM came into politics at a time in the 1930's when touching sentiment and harsh cruelty moved in the same world. To this he devoted his actions. The frustrated, the insecure, those suffering in poverty or broken in health—he would be and was their knight in armor. JIM BURKE could read the sentiment of the people and the House of Representatives as well.

Fortunately for America he became a member of the exalted Ways and Means Committee and chairman of the Subcommittee on Social Security. JIM BURKE moved the lot of the golden agers—the senior citizens. He fought for the COLA so they could live in dignity and respect. He fought so that those in the twilight of their careers could have health care. And because of his respect for the less fortunate, he fought so they also could have medical care.

JIM, in God's eyes what you have done for the poor, the sick, and the elderly was not wrong—but right. It is one of the monuments you have left.

We know of the loving care JIM had for Aileen and his brothers and sisters—and how much he loved you all. We will miss him as you will.

In the parlance of the Congress that JIM loved, the bell rings four times for final adjournment. Sine die—till another day. God bless his soul.

May I just say that one often wonders how, when they lose an old friend, they can say in their heart has there been appreciation for the friendship, for the kindness, for the loyalties, for the many good times that we have had together.

JIM and his wife, Aileen, were two of the most beautiful people that I have ever met in my life and one of the things in my long career in public life that I can be thankful for is that I have met and have enjoyed the company of fellows like JIM BURKE.

Mr. DONNELLY. I thank the Speaker for those very kind words.

Let me suggest to all Members as they read through the Record tomorrow that they may pay special attention to the eulogy that Speaker O'Neill gave Monday morning at St. Mary's of the Hill Church in Milton. It was heartwarming and the people who loved and knew JIM BURKE so well appreciated it dearly, especially his lovely wife, Aileen.

At this time, I am honored to yield to the distinguished dean of the Massachusetts delegation, a former colleague of Mr. BURKE's not only here in the Congress but in the Massachusetts Legislature, the gentleman from Massachusetts, Mr. Boland.

Mr. BOLAND. Mr. Speaker, the people of Massachusetts suffered a special loss on October 13 with the death of our former colleague, JIM BURKE.

JIMMY BURKE was my friend for 45 years. We served in the Massachusetts Legislature together and I had the privilege of serving with him in the U.S. House of Representatives for 20 years. JIM liked to refer to himself as a "bread and butter Congressman," and that he certainly was. He realized, that being the people's Representative in Washington, meant more, than being content with debating the great issues of the day. He built his reputation on his integrity, his tenacity, and his accessibility to his constituents. If someone in his district had a problem with the Federal Government, regardless of whether the problem was large or small, whether it concerned a veteran's disability, a widow's social security pension, or a Government contract, JIMMY adopted it as his own. He made it his business to insure that his people did not become lost in the maze Federal bureaucracies sometimes create and that the Federal Government responded to their needs.

JIM BURKE was first elected to Congress in 1958, from a traditionally Republican district, and he was reelected nine times by ever increasing margins. In his column in the Boston Sunday Globe of October 16, Thomas Oliphant succinctly stated the reason for JIM's success at the polls:

> More complex conceptions aside, there are really only three kinds of Congressmen—the good ones, the forgettable ones, and the bad ones. Representative BURKE—was one of those consummately good Congressmen whose careers can teach us important lessons about politics and public service. One of the most important of those lessons is that there is no conflict between good politics and good government when the practitioners are people of character.

Among his colleagues in the House, JIM BURKE was known as a man with a deep commitment to the needs of the elderly, the disabled, and the working men and women of this country. He was admired for his wit and his warmth, his courage and his compassion. His service on the Ways and Means Committee intensified his belief in the value of the social security system and he devoted considerable energy to devising means by which to improve its financial stability. In many respects, he was ahead of his time in his views on social security. I know that he enjoyed the manner in which many of those views framed our last great debate on social security. JIM BURKE understood that for many older Americans, social security is the standard by which they measure the depth of their country's commitment to helping them lead lives of dignity and purpose. During his tenure in the House, he was their champion, and his efforts on their behalf, which are probably best reflected in the supplemental security income program and the adjustment of social security benefits to inflation, will never be forgotten.

JIM'S retirement was neither as long, nor as pleasant, as his friends had hoped. He continued to battle diabetes, the disease which had forced his retirement from Congress, with the combination of good humor and courage which was his trademark. We who will miss him can take some solace in the fact that his struggle is over and he is at rest. I want to extend my deepest sympathies to JIMMY'S loving wife Aileen, his sisters Elizabeth and Margarita, and his brothers Walter and Arthur. While we share their grief at his passing, we also share their many happy memories of his time with all of us.

Mr. CONTE. Mr. Speaker, it is often said that when we lose a friend, we lose a part of ourselves. There can be no other way to describe the loss of my great friend and former colleague JIMMY BURKE.

JIMMY and I came to the Congress together in 1959, fresh from the Massachusetts State House. Our offices were next to each other in the Cannon Building, and anyone who knew that hallway understand that there was no wall between my office and his. At the end of the day's session, JIMMY and his staff would get together with us and unwind after a hard day's work. We were almost like a family away from home. We were new to the Congress and to the city and appreciated the opportunity to lean on each other when the homesickness got too tough to handle alone.

A lot of things have changed since those first early years; JIMMY and I followed different paths in the Congress, our staffs grew both apart and larger, and there just was not as much time anymore to get together like the old days. Even though we still worked together on a number of issues for our State and our country, we always missed the special camaraderie we had shared earlier.

It is hard to describe JIMMY BURKE without using superlatives—the most concerned about our Nation's old and disadvantaged, the most avid supporter of American jobs in the footwear and textile industries, and the most decent, fairminded man in the Congress. Most of all, however, he was a rock in the face of adversity. In his battles in the Congress, he displayed the same kind of courage and steadfastness that carried him through his illness in his last years. Always ready with a funny quip and a firm handshake, he gave us all a reason to smile and a standard to follow.

My deepest condolences go out to JIM's lovely wife Aileen and the rest of his family. We can all find great comfort in knowing that his work in the fields of trade and social security will live on as testament to his love of the Bay State, our country, and all its people.

In a recent column in the Boston Globe, Tom Oliphant noted that JIMMY BURKE was "one of the good ones," one who taught us that "there is no conflict between good politics and good government when the practitioners are people of character." I can think of no one who has taught that axiom by example better then JIMMY BURKE.

Mr. Speaker, I include at this point in the Record the article that was referred to by Eddie Boland written by Mr. Oliphant:

[From the Boston (Mass.) Globe, Oct. 16, 1983]

BURKE WAS ONE OF GOOD ONES

(By Thomas Oliphant)

WASHINGTON.—Vice President George Bush, who was born in Milton, was a busy man Friday, but not so busy that he couldn't pause to remember a man who settled in Milton, of whom he became quite fond in his days as a Congressman from Texas.

Said the Vice President of the late Representative JAMES A. BURKE: "I knew him well; he was a close friend from our days on the Ways and Means Committee. He was a wonderful and warm human being."

There was a little of George Burns in BURKE's eyes, which often twinkled mischievously, and when he had a big cigar in hand and his dry, mordant wit was switched on—which was most of the time—the resemblance could get even stronger.

Representative BURKE, quintessentially of Massachusetts and of the Democratic Party, was never unaware of his props; no public figure is. What distinguished his was that they were so uniformly endearing, an important clue to his character, which was carved out of Quincy quarry-quality stone.

More complex conceptions aside, there are really only three kinds of Congressmen—the good ones, the forgettable ones, and the bad ones.

Representative BURKE—who died Thursday at 73 after a long, dignified struggle with diabetes—was one of those consummately good Congressmen, whose careers can teach us important lessons about politics and public service. One of the most important of those lessons is that there is no conflict between good politics and good government when the practitioners are people of character.

It would be unfortunate if the occasion of BURKE's death were occupied too much by rhetorical encomiums and old stories of his 20-year congressional career (1959–79) and his time in the Massachusetts Legislature before that.

For the people he represented in Congress—the southern part of Boston and the South Shore—this diligent Representative took a couple of important stands on national issues that are as relevant today as they were a decade ago.

The first one has helped get across the job-saving message that in foreign trade there is a line beyond which Uncle Sam becomes Uncle Sucker. Representative BURKE put his name on a tough antisubsidized imports bill a decade ago that included rigorous quota provisions. He was widely excoriated for this—often by people more interested in economic abstractions and buzz words like protectionism than in shoeworkers in Brockton who were losing their jobs to imports that were being dumped on the U.S. market.

JAMES BURKE was in Congress, among other reasons, because he knew how to count, and was never under any illusions that his labor-backed measure would become law. But what he also knew, and never really got credit for knowing, was that until somebody got tough on Capitol Hill, the U.S. Government would never get credibly tough in foreign trade negotiations.

In the years that followed, more than one American diplomat won important points across felt negotiating tables by saying in effect: "I hope you realize that if you don't give me something to take back to Washington there's this rough guy BURKE in Congress, and he has this bill that is really going to hurt you."

Today, the United States is a much more forceful negotiator on trade issues—not unfair, just more forceful—and the willingness of people like Representative BURKE to get out front politically is one of the reasons.

His second important stand involved social security. As a key member of the Ways and Means Committee, his fingerprints were all over two legislative accomplishments—each pushed past an obstructionist President Richard Nixon—that saved millions of elderly people from devastation during the inflation of the 1970's. One was the establishment of a special pool for cash assistance to the elderly poor, the blind, and the disabled (supplemental security income); the other was the indexing of social security benefits to the rate of inflation.

Later, when Ways and Means formed subcommittees, and he chaired the one on Social Security, he championed an idea whose time may yet come, and which could have been the Democratic Party's alternative to Reaganomics. It was to finance the system as other industrial democracies do—one-third from general government revenues raised mostly through progressive income taxes; one-third from workers' payroll taxes; and one-third from an equal payroll levy on the employer.

The resulting tax cuts (from the present 50–50 split for workers and employers) would have stimulated consumer demand and business investment, with nowhere near the impact on the Federal budget deficit of the Reagan administration's program.

JAMES BURKE was totally without pretense or ego; in a quiet way, though, he was a far more thoughtful, issue-oriented man than many people realized, in many respects ahead of his time.

Mr. MOAKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise out of respect and friendship to the memory of the Honorable JAMES A. BURKE who for 20 years served as the 11th Congressional District's Representative in Congress. JIM BURKE was a dear friend of mine, with the origins of our friendship beginning with our common service in the Massachusetts State Legislature in the late 1950's prior to JIMMY's being elected to Congress in 1958.

As a Representative in Congress JIM BURKE was a class act. He worked tirelessly from 7 a.m. daily on the wide variety of legislative issues and constituent concerns that routinely came across his desk. Nothing and no one was too insignificant or unimportant to merit JIM BURKE's personal attention and involvement. A "bread and butter" elected official if there ever was one. JIM worried unendingly about the quality of constituents' lives—their health care, their housing status, their pensions, their children's education, their employment situation, and so forth. JIM's involvement from his earliest days in Congress and from his State house service before, in issues of concern to senior citizens, led to his being named to the House Ways and Means Committee by the late Speaker, John McCormack. Years later, JIMMY BURKE rose to the chairmanship of the powerful House Ways and Means Subcommittee on Social Security, a position that he continually used to champion the rights and needs of the 11th District's and the Nation's elderly.

Early on JIMMY recognized inherent weaknesses in the social security system. The very network upon which many of our Nation's elderly had come to rely. JIM became a forceful supporter early on of attempts to bring financial solvency back to the social security system. JIM was also very much responsible for the close collaboration between the House Ways and Means and the Johnson administration, in the creation of the medicare and medicaid systems, which play so large a role in the lives of this Nation's elderly and low income.

The U.S. House is a far better institution today for having had JIM with us for two decades. Indeed, I think it can be safely said that our Nation is a far better place offering a quality of a far better life for its senior citizens thanks to JIMMY BURKE's forceful stewardship. I will sorely miss his counsel and friendship.

Mr. STUDDS. Mr. Speaker, let me just observe if I may for a moment that had the television cameras been capable during much of the speeches in the memory of JIMMY of panning the room and taking a look at the Members of the Massachusetts delegation who were waiting their turn to speak, they would have noticed that more often than not we were chuckling. Let me suggest that not only would that not have been out of disrespect for JIMMY BURKE, but it would in many respects have been the most appropriate way and the most respectful way to remember a man who was incapable of sitting in one place for more than a minute or two without himself and those within earshot beginning to chuckle. He brought to life a twinkle and a spark and a sense of humor which made it very bearable and very pleasant for those around him.

I remember, it is hard for someone my age to say that I remember JIMMY BURKE and the Speaker of the House both elected to the State legislature in Boston in the year before I was born, but I remember very clearly indeed coming here as a young freshman in 1973 and in a way being adopted by Congressman BURKE. It is quite clear to me that he saw in me what he recalled to be the radical youth that he thought he was when he entered the legislature in the 1930's. There was an unending stream of advice, most of it very sound, indeed, which I think many of us were privileged to receive over the years from JIMMY; but it does seem to me that no recollection of him on the part of those of us who had the privilege of serving with him in this House would be complete or certainly not appropriate and in character without some recollections of really the verbal trademarks of JIMMY.

For example, if this eulogy had occurred on behalf of another of our colleagues, if JIMMY were with us tonight, I can say with absolute certainty that before this time he would have come down this aisle, looked at each one of us, one in a row, sitting here solemnly and would say, "You know, the trouble with you is you think this place is on the level."

I think all of us will recognize that. I remember very clearly one day, more than one day, of flying home in the coach class on an aircraft, which is the habit of most of us, and each time about once a month you would walk by JIMMY seated looking very comfortable in the first class section and you would look at him, and say, "JIMMY, what are you doing in first class?"

And he would look at you and say, "You know, it's against union rules to turn down a benefit when it is available in the contract," and we would all troop back to the coach.

I remember, who of us could forget, who would hear his tomato seed bill. Years after the Department of Agriculture had stopped, which I suspect was because of the enormous public expense involved, the practice of making available free seeds to the American people, JIMMY Burke decided it would be a wonderful idea to introduce legislation, particularly in the era of high inflation and difficult living for so many working people, to introduce legislation to once again make available seeds for planting tomatoes in one's home garden.

Mr. BURKE suddenly appeared on national television night after night, on the radio and newspapers all over the country. He became a national figure of some dimensions long before he was known, I think, for some of his other legislative accomplishments, suggesting once again that Americans ought to have access to free seeds to grow tomatoes in their home gardens.

I have never seen him look more ashen or more shocked than the day that the Agriculture Committee announced they were going to hold hearings on his bill. He came in here and he was something, he was livid. He said, "I have an issue that is good for at least a decade and it appears that this committee is going to hold hearings and they might even move the bill." He was quite upset about that and he advised me in my first term, I was the cosponsor and the author at the time of the 200-mile fishing limit bill, and when it became clear in 1974 and 1975, my first and second term, that serious legislative progress was being made and the bill might actually become law, he took me aside in typical JIMMY BURKE fashion and he said, "Let me give you some advice. That is an issue that is worth at least 10 years. For God's sake, don't get it enacted into law in your second term."

He was always there. Of course, in the course of giving us this advice, he was eating cigars. Everybody will remember that JIMMY went through I think it was three packs of cigars a day and the only time you would ever see him genuinely upset was when someone who did not know him and did not know better, politely lit one of them when he was not looking. JIMMY never smoked, at least I gather he did in earlier years, but not when I knew him; but he certainly literally consumed cigars.

He was a master of the frank. Who of us could forget the day that his office discovered years after anyone had stopped discussing the subject 50,000 bomb shelter brochures that were available for free from some nameless Federal agency. Within a matter of weeks, they appeared all over Quincy and Brockton, Milton and South Boston.

I remember JIMMY saying to me one day, "You know, someone has announced to run against me." That struck him as ingratitude, rather than politics.

He said, "You know, I am going to go home and I'm going to say to my people, 'You can't afford to retire me.' "

He said, "If you think it's expensive keeping me in office, do you know what my pension would be if I were defeated? You can't afford to retire me."

I think he knew better than anyone else rule 6. Some Members may not remember being told by JIMMY about rule 6, but he would say, "Now, look," if you were getting too serious, "remember rule 6. Rule 6 is don't take yourself too seriously, and there are no other rules."

I must say that the way I remember JIMMY, the things that immediately came to my mind as I sat down earlier today and thought, now, what should one appropriately say in remembering this kind and gentle man? Almost without exception, they were the things that reminded me of the twinkle and the humor that he brought to what became increasingly in the later years of his life and for all of us a less than humorous job on frequent occasions.

Beneath the humor, as has been pointed out by everyone who has spoken from our delegation, lay a deeply human and compassionate man and that compassion and that humanity, I think, found its legislative fulfillment in his chairmanship of the Subcommittee on Social Security.

JIMMY BURKE had always argued that among other things the method of financing social security by relying entirely on the payroll tax, a method unknown in any developed country in the Western World, except the United States, was an unfair one. It imposed an unfair burden on small business people and on working people. He was right. And today as we labor under increases year after year on that tax, the wisdom and the humanity of JIMMY's approach toward social security I think is being borne upon us every day more so.

Let me finally conclude by thanking my colleague, the gentleman from Massachusetts, Mr. Donnelly. It has been a pleasure to serve in an adjoining district with him, as it was with Mr. BURKE. I think we will remember him with fondness and with sadness. He served his district and his country well.

Mr. EARLY. Mr. Speaker, it is a privilege to take part in this well-merited tribute to our former colleague, Congressman JAMES A. BURKE, who died last Friday in Boston, Mass. JIM BURKE spent most of his mature life in the military, administrative, and legislative service of his country and his State. He served with distinction in the counterintelligence branch of the Army during World War II. Here in this House he represented the people of the 11th Congressional District of Massachusetts for 20 consecutive years and voluntarily retired in 1979.

When he retired, Mr. Speaker, he publicly and enthusiastically supported Brian Donnelly, the author of this special order. He was delighted and he was so happy when Brian was elected to succeed him and Brian is the first to acknowledge that.

Brian, you succeed a fine American.

All who served here with JIM BURKE knew him to be a dedicated legislator of exceptional effectiveness, vast knowledge, and superior skill.

He was cordial, cooperative, and helpful to all Members of both parties.

All of his colleagues held him in the highest esteem. He was recognized nationally as an authoritative voice on the complex difficulty of shoring up the fiscal integrity of the social security system.

He was a leading advocate for the preservation and strengthening of the system as a major factor in the maintenance of our national morale as a whole in the economic security of our senior citizens in particular.

In his home district he was and will remain a legend in his personal concern and effective assistance to his constituents and their communities in their special problems and projects. But above all else, JIM BURKE will be longest admired and best remembered for his personal qualities. He was a very warm and pleasant human being. He was an individual of the highest character, competence, and compassion. He was honest and sincere in everything he did. Titles and wealth made no influential impression upon him. JIM BURKE was as much at home with the janitor in the basement as he was with the company president in the top floor suite and he treated both of them just the same. He said and he did what he thought was morally and politically right. His conscience was his guide; the progress of the Nation was his measurement.

His decisions, based on these standards, could not be changed in the slightest either by the President of the United States or the leaders of his own party.

Mr. Speaker, JIM BURKE was my long, loyal, and dear friend. Since he retired from the House I have missed him and will forever miss his daily good cheer, gentle wit and hearty humor, and encouraging word. He loved life. He lived with it fully. For many years he was plagued by a very serious illness but he never complained. He even joked about it. I spoke to him 2 weeks ago and what was he doing? He was laying in bed listening to the Boston Red Sox. By his own actions he held up the spirits of those who were fortunate enough to be frequently in his company. He was a person of unwavering principle, immense courage, and unsurpassed patriotism. In a critical period of our history, he greatly helped to maintain the confidence of his people in the integrity of our national institution of government.

In this House and throughout his Commonwealth the name JIM BURKE will forever recall the finest attributes and tradition of individual service to country, to friend, to neighbor, and to fellow citizens. His truest memorial is the example of his own life. We would all do well to try to imitate it.

My deepest sympathy is extended to his gracious and lovely wife Aileen and all other family members and relatives in their great loss and sorrow.

Mr. MAVROULES. Mr. Speaker, today we honor the memory of a man, a former Member of Congress, who like no other graced this august Chamber, this forum of democracy. Today we mourn the passing away last Thursday of JAMES A. BURKE, who for 20 years, from 1959 through 1978, represented the good people, the South Shore District of Massachusetts. In an institution tied to the heartbeat of the Nation, in an institution whose Members must renew their mandate every 2 years at the voting booths, in an institution aptly called the Peoples' Court, JAMES A. BURKE was the peoples' choice.

Stories abound about his common touch, his hand grabbing, back slapping, loving embrace that he blessed everyone with, the high and the low, statesmen and laborers, Democrats and Republicans.

He traveled a wide road and all were invited to walk with him. His constituents saw that in his willingness to go the distance for him. They correctly judged that that was the measure of a Member of Congress and they repeatedly returned JAMES BURKE to Congress.

He represented all that is good about the U.S. House of Representatives and in his passing he has left behind a following of men and women dedicated to the proposition that service to the Nation is the highest calling there is. Mr. Chairman, there have been written many articles about my friend and yours, JAMES BURKE, but the two that stand out and certainly exemplify the character of the man, the man who is such a good person, and I would like to just very briefly read you two quotes.

During the time when he was having an amputation on his leg and his leg was being operated on; and General Dynamics was having a very difficult time, a shipbuilding industry in his district, labor negotiations and problems, and he was concerned; and he called a gentleman by the name of Jack Keough of the Patriot-Ledger, and Jack Keough said to him, "What are you doing calling me now, JIM? You have got enough problems without worrying about General Dynamics."

There was a pause, then JIM BURKE told me, told Jack Keough, "My boy, maybe I do not have my leg any more, and I will never end up kicking field goals for the Patriots, but there are guys down there that have to keep food on the tables for their families. That yard has to stay open. I am going to do everything I can to see that it does."

Another quote. Mr. Speaker, when JIM constantly subscribed to Harry Truman's philosophy that the wealth of our Nation comes from the payroll of our Nation, that is why he was for jobs, jobs, and more jobs, and I think that truly describes the man that we praise here today. Let me also join with my colleagues in expressing my deepest sympathy to his wife and to all members of his family.

Mr. DONNELLY. Those two quotes from those two newspaper articles I think really captured the essence of what this fine man was all about and what his life was dedicated to and the type of commitment that he really had to the people that loved him so dearly and had so much faith in him and I appreciate your participation here today.

Mr. MAVROULES. I want to thank my colleague here today. I did not know the gentleman as well as you did and the others who have served with him in the U.S. House of Representatives, but I can truly say the little bit that I knew of him but more what I have read about him, he was my kind of man and thank you very much for this opportunity.

Mr. DONNELLY. It is my privilege to yield to my dear friend who also came to the Congress, together with myself, with Mr. Mavroules, an individual who replaced JIM BURKE as a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, Mr. Shannon.

Mr. SHANNON. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank my colleague from Massachusetts for yielding, and I am not sure that anybody could replace JIM BURKE on the Ways and Means Committee.

JIM BURKE was a tireless public servant, in all the best senses of those words, with a public career that lasted some 40 years. During that time, he worked for his hometown, the city of Boston, for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and for his country in the U.S. Congress. Through all his various tours of duty, however, JIM BURKE would have maintained that he was serving the same boss—the people.

After working his way through Suffolk Law School, JIM ran for and won a seat in the Massachusetts State Legislature. He held that seat for 10 years, eventually serving as assistant majority leader. He interrupted his career in the legislature to enlist in the Army in World War II, where he was decorated four times. He returned to the State legislature in 1945 and in 1958, he was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives. JIM put in another 20 years on the 11th District calendar before retiring the seat to our colleague, Brian Donnelly.

It was as a member of the Ways and Means Committee that JIM left his mark in Congress. He proved to be a tireless worker on the committee, where he served under Chairmen Wilbur Mills and Al Ullman. As chairman of the Subcommittee on Social Security, he became a nationally known advocate for older Americans. JIM rarely missed a vote and never missed an opportunity to advance the interests of his district, his State, and in particular, the older Americans of this country, although near the end of his term, he was confined to a wheelchair. Well after his retirement from this body, JIM BURKE remained active on these issues and for this leadership, we all owe him a debt of gratitude.

JIM BURKE was a dedicated Member of this body who constantly demonstrated his integrity, his intelligence, and his independence of mind. I know that he has been and will remain an inspiration to many of us in this Chamber.

Mr. Speaker, when I was first elected to this body in 1978, JIM BURKE was just retiring. I was honored to follow in his footsteps on the Ways and Means Committee and am well aware of the responsibilities that go along with such an assignment. I only hope that I will be able to carry on his dedication and hard work to the Congress and the committee.

I want to thank my colleague, Brian Donnelly, for requesting this special order today and I want to join him in sending my deepest condolences to JIM's family at this time.

Mr. ANNUNZIO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to pay tribute to our former colleague, the Honorable JAMES A. BURKE of Massachusetts, whose death on October 13, is a tremendous loss to the people of this Nation.

JIM BURKE became my close and trusted friend during the period we served in Congress together, and I am proud to have had the honor to work with him. I shall always cherish the wise counsel, advice, and good will that he so generously extended to me.

JIM held public office for more than 40 years, and was first elected to the 86th Congress in 1958, after a career of outstanding service and leadership in the Massachusetts State House of Representatives for 4 years, and as a member of the Massachusetts General Court for 10 years. He also had a fine record of gallant military service during World War II in the Pacific theater as a special agent in Army counterintelligence, where he won four battle stars and other decorations.

As a Congressman, JIM BURKE became a self-educated expert on the social security system, serving as the chairman of the Subcommittee on Social Security of the House Ways and Means Committee. He devoted his life to the betterment of his fellow citizens with emphasis on helping the elderly. His dedication to the highest standards was an inspiration to his friends and fellow citizens, and his special commitment to senior citizens will long be remembered by those of us who had the privilege to serve with him in the Congress of the United States.

JIM also had an outstanding record of service as the ranking member on both the Subcommittee on Unemployment Compensation and the Joint Committee on Taxation, and as a member of the House Banking and Currency Committee.

At this point in the Record, I would like to include a tribute to Congressman BURKE which appeared in the Boston Globe on Friday, Oct. 14, 1983, recognizing the many achievements of this great American. The article follows:

[From the Boston (Mass.) Globe, Oct. 14, 1983]

JAMES A. BURKE OF MILTON: CONGRESSMAN FOR TWO DECADES

Former Representative JAMES A. BURKE of Milton, who served two decades in the U.S. House and 10 years in the Massachusetts Legislature before that, died yesterday in New England Deaconess Hospital after a long illness. He was 73.

The self-styled "bread and butter Congressman", of the 11th District retired in January 1979. He was first elected to the post in 1958.

Confined to a wheelchair since the loss of his right foot in July 1977, "JIMMY," as he was known, decided not to seek reelection. ("Leave while the music is playing," he said.) He also had been plagued with respiratory troubles, failing eyesight, and diabetes in his last years in Congress, but he never complained.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said of Mr. BURKE, "He was one of the most beloved men ever to serve in Congress."

Since retirement, Mr. BURKE had been active in the Catholic Charitable Bureau and the State commission for the blind.

In his 20 years on Capitol Hill, the shy, affable Democratic Congressman was the architect of considerable social security and medicare legislation. He served as chairman of the Ways and Means Subcommittee on Social Security and worked tirelessly to improve the system.

"JIMMY was a great champion of the Golden Agers of this country," O'Neill said.

Mr. BURKE also was the Congressman in charge of the investigation by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation of President Richard M. Nixon's income taxes, resulting from questions raised by the Internal Revenue Service about the huge deduction Nixon took in 1969, for donating his Vice Presidential papers.

From the time in the late 1930's when he moved from his Hyde Park real estate business into politics, Mr. BURKE's career was a steady climb that seldom faltered.

In 1938, during his first term in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, he was appointed to a second job, that of registrar of vital statistics for the city, by Boston's Mayor Maurice J. Tobin. After some months as registrar, he resigned to run against then Representative John W. McCormack for McCormack's 12th District congressional seat.

Mr. BURKE, a kindly man with a wry wit, later recalled: "I had 400 volunteers going all over the district. They'd go from door to door and tell people they were working for me, that I was running for Congress. People were nice until they asked my volunteers who I was running against.

"They'd say, 'He's running against John McCormack' and the people would slam the door."

He was beaten only one other time—when he ran for Lieutenant Governor in 1954.

When Mr. BURKE learned that Representative Richard Wigglesworth was retiring in 1958 from the then heavily Republican 13th District, he filed as a Democrat to run for the spot. He won handily and continued to win thereafter with little opposition. In four campaigns the Republicans failed to field a candidate.

Mr. BURKE opposed, but survived, redistricting, which brought his Milton home area into the 11th District, comprising the cities of Quincy and Brockton and some 11 towns south of Boston.

In Congress he served on key committees and subcommittees including, in addition to Ways and Means, Joint Committees on Internal Revenue Taxation and Budget Outlay and Control.

But it was his work with social security with which he was most closely identified. He felt that people with low incomes were paying too high a percentage of their wages for social security while those earning large incomes were paying less than they could easily afford.

He was a longtime advocate of changing the social security financing formula from 50–50 contributions by employees and employers to one-third from both and the remaining one-third from general revenue.

He urged the utility companies to switch back to coal, declaring the country had at least 100 years of coal available.

Colleagues in Congress were lavish in their praise of Mr. BURKE.

Senator Edward Kennedy said: "JIMMY BURKE was one of those rare public servants who never lost touch with the common man, nor felt any sense of importance no matter what the honor or accolade was bestowed upon him."

Representative Edward P. Boland (D-Mass.) said: "People came to JIMMY BURKE with their problems because they knew that in him they had not only a sympathetic listener but an experienced and resourceful advocate."

Representative Brian Donnelly (D-Mass.), who succeeded Mr. BURKE in Congress, said: "Mr. BURKE's passing is a tremendous loss. He was loved and respected by the people of the 11th District that he knew and served so well for so many years."

Mr. BURKE was always available to his constituents. A kindly man of medium height and stocky build, he made frequent visits home to cater to their needs.

The Fore River Shipyard, his area's largest employer, was one of his pet projects and any of its problems had top priority in his office. He also searched high and low for aid to cranberry growers, ailing shoe and textile industries threatened by cheap foreign competition, and the New England fishing industry.

The retired Congressman was born JAMES ANTHONY BURKE in South Boston on Mar. 30, 1910, the youngest of 10 children. He grew up in Mattapan and Hyde Park, where his family had a large vegetable garden that supplied much of the neighborhood.

He was a graduate of English High School and attended Suffolk Law School.

During World War II, he served as a special agent in Army counterintelligence attached to the 77th Infantry Division in the South Pacific.

He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, AMVETS, the Knights of Columbus, and Eagles.

Mr. BURKE leaves his wife, Aileen (McDonald); two sisters, Elizabeth Burke and Margarita Burke, both of Hyde Park; and two brothers, Walter of Hyde Park, and Arthur of Dorchester.

Before he died, Mr. BURKE set up the James A. Burke Scholarship Fund to benefit the schools at St. Angela's Church, Mattapan; St. Mary of the Hills Church, Milton, and St. Gregory's Church, Dorchester.

A funeral Mass will be said Monday at 10 a.m. in St. Mary of the Hills Church.

Congressman BURKE was a fine legislator, and served the people of the 11th Congressional District of Massachusetts for 20 years, until his retirement from Congress in 1978, with distinction, deep compassion, and courage. In recognition of his many achievements and untiring service to his constituents, by an act of Congress a post office in Quincy, Mass., bears his name. He will be sorely missed by all those he served, and all who had the privilege to know him as a friend.

Mrs. Annunzio and I extend our deepest sympathy to his devoted wife, Aileen, and to the other members of his family who survive him.

Mr. PICKLE. Mr. Speaker, when I first came to the Congress, Mr. William Colmer had been in the Congress for nearly 40 years. He haled from Mississippi. He told me the first day I was here, he said, "Jake, whatever you have done in the past, whatever friends you have made, you can remember, but you will never make better acquaintances or dearer friends than you will here in this House, no matter how long you stay here." He said, "Just remember that."

I found that Bill Colmer was exactly right and one of the most interesting and one of the most picturesque men I have ever served with was JIM BURKE. Certainly he was one of the most colorful speakers.

It did not take JIM BURKE long to get warmed up for a speech. If he decided all at once he wanted to make an address, he could do it, and he could go. He could go from zero speed to 60 miles an hour in nothing flat.

Then he could go into the cloakroom and he would turn to his colleagues and say, "You know, they may take me too seriously on that." And he would laugh and he would turn to a new Member and say, "Now, don't ever let this job get too serious with you." He was that kind of an individual.

As I look back on it, I think that this Nation owes JIM BURKE a great vote of thanks, much greater than the average person realizes. I served with him for a few years as a member of his Subcommittee on Social Security.

For over 25 to 30 years we as a Congress have given away more benefits and given more benefits, and JIM BURKE became chairman of the committee at a time when it was necessary that we start making some changes. It fell his very difficult task to try to correct some of the overpayments we had made, overextensions that we had made back in the early 1970's.

In 1977, JIM BURKE as chairman of the committee advanced some recommendations and changes such as decoupling and tried to correct some of the flaws we had made in the earlier cost of living COLA grants.

That was not easy to do. But at that time in 1977, the overall long term deficit of the social security trust fund was in excess of 8 percent. That is an enormous amount of money. Our social security trust fund would have gone broke within 2 or 3 years had we not made some changes.

A lot of people look back and say, "Oh, the changes that we made in 1977 were supposed to cure everything," and they did not.

But I say to you that if JIM BURKE, under his leadership, had not recommended those changes, we would have much, much more serious trouble in social security. As it was, as the gentleman from Massachusetts, Mr. Shannon, has said, he made a great contribution to our elderly citizens and this Nation owes him a great vote of thanks because as chairman of the first committee on social security he pointed the way toward solvency, and I think this Nation owes him a great vote of thanks.

Serving with him on the committee was a great pleasure. We knew pretty much how JIM would vote and we knew exactly how he would respond if you tested him or if you put him to the question. He was always predictable.

It would not take JIM very much difficulty to delve into a speech against imports and his favorite topic was shoes. He would point out that originally when he came to Congress, he would say when he first announced as young JIM BURKE, and I notice 30 years later he was still using the same picuture of young JIM BURKE announces for reelection, but he said at this time we had 20 or more shoe factories in my district, and then he would go into great detail telling us exactly what had happened, what had driven those shoes out of his district, what had driven those shoes out of the United States and overseas, and that they are going to break every shoe company in America.

I will tell you, those of us on the Ways and Means Committee have heard that speech by him many a time.

I would like to recall at one time just a few years ago when we were all invited to the White House to visit President Carter on a matter pertaining to taxes, and before we had our first cup of coffee to just get warmed up, JIM said, "Now, Mr. President, let me tell you something about shoes." He turned to President Carter and after about 30 minutes President Carter was in a daze and did not know what he was talking about or what brought that up. One of us turned to the President and said, "Mr. President, welcome to the club. You have just received one of JIM BURKE's fine deliveries about shoes and imports."

Of course, JIM was basically right. But he did that because he was trying to make a point. He knew how this business worked. He knew how the Congress worked, and he knew how to be helpful to his district.

Let me recite one more story. I know others do want to speak. But I want to tell a story that JIM told me one time about a conference he had with President Lyndon Johnson.

At that time the Navy shipyard in Boston was going to be closed. They had already sent out word that they did not have enough money and the budget had to be cut and the Boston shipyard was going to be closed down.

JIM BURKE knew what that would do to his district. He knew that that meant several thousand people, a great payroll and a great hardship within his congressional district. So he finally got an appointment with President Johnson to ask him could he not help him keep that Navy shipyard open in his district.

The President granted him that chance.

JIM took down several people from his district and they got to the White House. Then JIM said, "Now, Mr. President, I want to talk to you about a matter in my district." And the President says, "JIM, it is awfully good to see you. I have missed being with you on the Hill. You were one of the greatest Members we had." And he went into several things that had happened. Then when he finished JIM said, "Oh, Mr. President, I want to talk to you"—and the President said, "Oh, yes, JIM, and another thing." And about three or four times he tried to make his point that he needed some help with the Navy shipyard, and he said that finally time ran out and the man came in and said, "President Johnson, I am sorry, these other delegations are here now, the photographers are waiting, and we will have to move on to the next appointment."

So the President turned to JIM and JIM was just crestfallen because he had not even gotten any of his sales pitch in, much less gotten his project, and he started to the door and he wondered why in the world had the President done that to him. The President finally turned and said, "JIM, just a minute. Before you leave, I am sorry time ran out," he said, "but before you leave, be prepared when you go out that door to tell the press how you twisted my arm, because those reporters out there are asking how in the world you sold me on keeping that Navy yard open." He said, "I have already called the Navy and told them to do it." He said, "It is done. Now you go out and take the credit and make a big speech, a typical JIM BURKE speech." And JIM said, "I did."

You know he knew how the system worked and so President Johnson knew how the system worked and they were great friends. I like to recall that story thinking that there were two men who knew how to work together to help their country.

I consider it a great pleasure to have served with JIM BURKE. I think he was one of the most delightful men that I have ever known, and he has meant a lot to this country. I hope his family and his friends in Boston know that of all of the men who served in this Congress, none was more colorful and more interesting and more delightful or more effective for his country than the Honorable JIM BURKE.

Mr. DONNELLY. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend for those wonderful remarks and those very JIM BURKE type of stories.

I thought one of the greatest tragedies when Mr. BURKE decided not to run in 1978 is that he was leaving when the advent of television was coming to the House floor. I think America missed, by not seeing Mr. BURKE at his best when he talked about shoes, and ships, and imports, and the jobs of the people, and bread and butter. That was an essence of the Democratic Party that I think sometimes we slip away from a little bit in this television age that we are in.

Also the other part of his work on the social security, the medicare, the medicaid, the SSI for the disabled and the blind. There are JIM BURKE's fingerprints all over almost all of that legislation in the so-called Great Society years and in the late 1960's and early 1970's, and there are so many people that have been affected in a positive way by his work and his steadfastness that never even knew his name.

But we did and people like yourself who have worked so closely with him. And the Burke family especially will appreciate the gentleman's wonderful remarks.

Mr. PICKLE. Mr. Speaker, I should say that I can still see JIM BURKE making his speech, walking around the floor with one of those cigars, a traditional JIMMY BURKE trademark, a big fat cigar.

Now he never lit it, as far as I knew, but he always had them, morning, noon, and night.

We used to say: When JIMMY BURKE dies and goes to heaven, we won't have to know which way he was going, we could just follow the trail of cigars up to the pearly gates.

Mr. DONNELLY. I thank the gentleman for those kind remarks.

Believe me, JIMMY is up in those pearly gates.

Mr. GONZALEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise to join my colleagues, both those from Massachusetts as well as other States, to express my grief and great disappointment when I heard the sad news that JIMMY had passed on.

Somehow or other I had expected he would be with us for many more years.

I happen to have been one of those who was with JIM the last night of the session in 1979 when we had that 36-hour continuous session of the House. Just to say the words, "JIMMY BURKE" is to evoke a gentility, a friendship, a warmth that those who got to know him very well know that his name is synonymous with warmth and friendship. But above all on that particular night when we were here until the wee hours of the morning waiting for that conference on social security, it was JIM who came in and alerted me. I sat with him because by that time he had to go in a wheelchair and he was indignant as I had seldom seen him because he came to report that the conferees had tacked on a $450 million giveaway in social security funds.

It was JIM BURKE whom I contacted in the interim, incidentally, after those amendments, because of his great expertise in what I have always felt, had he been listened to and followed, the investment practices of the Social Security Board would have prevented if they had been adopted along JIM's recommendations some of the crises in one or two of those funds.

So when one considers evoking JIM BURKE's memory not only the traits of his character which have been so eloquently presented tonight, but his expertise as a legislator in those chores he was assigned, particularly in the area of social security legislation, one must marvel and make sure that the record reflects that.

There is no question in my mind that the last words he said, that was about 6:30 in the morning after we had been here in session, on that Sunday morning when I heard that he was going to retire I expressed dismay and disappointment and he said, "Well, Henry, I want to go back now while I still have time to smell the roses and enjoy the music."

I am sure that JIM in Heaven now is doing precisely that.

Mr. PANETTA. Mr. Speaker, I would like to join my colleagues in paying tribute to the memory of Representative JAMES A. BURKE, who passed away last week.

I had the opportunity of serving in only one Congress with JIMMY BURKE, but during that time, I found him to be one of the friendliest and most conscientious Members of this body. Despite the fact that he was confined to a wheelchair, JIMMY

BURKE continued to be the greatest protector of the social security system in the Congress, as he had been for many years. In his search for a solution to the serious problems of social security, he left a legacy of concern and responsibility.

In addition, JIMMY BURKE was a hard worker for his own Boston and South Shore constituents in Massachusetts. I am certain that they will miss him a great deal. I know my colleagues join me in expressing sympathy to the family of JIMMY BURKE. I hope they can find solace in the fact that the memory and the results of the public service he provided will live on.

Mr. DONNELLY. Mr. Speaker, in conclusion, there are many Members who have submitted statements, who could not be here this evening, who want to go on record in a very small way, in a way that is set aside especially under the rules of the House that we might, in our little way, place in the history books of this Nation the achievements and the goals and the type of person that this great man was.

Mr. Speaker, I include at this point in the Record, various editorials.

[From the Patriot-Ledger, Quincy (Mass.), Oct. 14, 1983]

JIMMY BURKE

JAMES A. BURKE was a 10-term Congressman and a powerful figure in the U.S. House of Representatives. But he never forgot where home base was—back in "the district", what was then the 11th District, stretching from four Boston wards to Brockton, and he knew who he was representing, the people back home.

More than anything else, JIMMY BURKE was a "bread and butter" politician who cared about the people who elected him and spent hours answering their mail and trying to help with their problems. That was why the Milton Democrat spent 20 years in the House of Representatives, without breathing hard at election time, and, as he was fond of pointing out, spending hardly any money on campaigning. It was not a political challenger who finally forced BURKE into retirement in 1979, it was failing health, and yesterday JIMMY BURKE's life ended after 73 years.

BURKE was not a pretentious man, but he had clout in Washington and knew how to use it. In visits with The Patriot-Ledger editorial board BURKE would wave his prop cigar and chide us for urging reforms in the congressional seniority system. That seniority, which had ultimately made him the second-ranking member on the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, was important to Quincy and the South Shore, he remined us. "Yes, I've always been a firm believer in the seniority system," he once remarked. "Of course, that's once I had the seniority."

BURKE used his clout to help individual constituents with their personal problems as well as the economic interests of his district. He fought for more contracts for the shipyard in Quincy, for changes in the financing of the social security system, for the retention of decentralized postal service, for the protection of American jobs.

Seeking to protect American jobs, he cosponsored one of the last decade's most controversial bills—the Burke-Hartke bill to restrict foreign imports—that many, including this newspaper, regarded as a retreat into trade protectionism that ultimately would be an economic disaster for the country. But BURKE maintained he had filed it to focus public attention on the problems of foreign business competition, and bantered, "I might even vote against it myself."

He was proud of his attendance record in Congress, and rarely missed a committee meeting or a recorded vote. And when his health forced his retirement, he left with some regrets but with dignity: "I always said I wanted to leave while the music's playing and I can still smell the roses. That's what I'm doing."

[From the Brockton (Mass.) Enterprise, Oct. 16, 1983]

SERVANT OF THE PEOPLE

Too many politicians, on both the State and National level, rise to prominence by identifying with the so-called common man—and then promptly discard him once they are ensconced in positions of power.

That wasn't JIMMY BURKE's style.

JAMES A. BURKE, who died Thursday at the age of 73, represented the city of Brockton as its Congressman for 20 years and was a public servant—in the purest sense of the term—for 42 years. He was called a bread and butter politician, meaning that he cared—truly cared—about the everyday concerns of his constituents, the people who put him in office in the hope that their concerns—their hopes and their fears—would be given expression in the corridors of power.

JIMMY BURKE never forgot them. He never forgot the people who had placed their trust in him. He never got carried away by self-importance. He always knew where his duty lay.

It was typical of the man that he should adopt as his own the truly disenfranchised in this Nation—the elderly who, particularly in this youth-orientated society of today, feel they have been discarded and forgotten. While his colleagues addressed themselves to more lofty issues, JIMMY BURKE devoted his life to improving the lot of the elderly, and he saw his efforts come into fruition with the adoption of the medicaid and medicare programs which are in effect today.

Those programs, so vital to the well-being of older Americans struggling along on fixed incomes, will stand as JIMMY BURKE's epitaph—and no public servant will ever have a finer one.

"He was," Senator Edward Kennedy eulogized "one of those rare public servants who never lost touch with the common man. He was as much at home climbing a gangplank in the Quincy Naval Shipyard to meet workers as he was sitting down with heads of staff in the Nation's Capital."

We will remember him that way.

[From the Boston (Mass.) Herald, Oct. 15, 1983]

JOHN AND JIMMY

Both John W. McCormack and JIMMY BURKE were bread and butter politicians in the best sense of the term. They seldom made either headlines or stump-busting speeches, either in Congress or their districts—but they managed to accomplish quite a bit for their constituents and the Commonwealth during their years in Washington.

That's why it is understandable that, despite all they did, the extent of their achievements was not really appreciated while they were alive, and is only now being fully realized and praised.

For the former Speaker of the U.S. House, the honor comes in the establishment of the John W. McCormack Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Massachusetts at Boston to "promote informed debate and encourage active participation in governmental affairs * * * (to) help recruit and train leaders for the public and private sector."

For BURKE, who was forced by failing health to retire in 1979 after a long career in the Legislature and as Congressman from the 11th District, the appreciation comes in the tributes to his memory following his death Thursday. BURKE likely knew more about social security and medicare than most of his colleagues in Washington, and worked tirelessly to strengthen them. In truth, there are many who are convinced that if the reforms he urged from the early 1970's on had been accepted, social security would not have fallen on the hard times that forced harsher reform last year.

BURKE was both a friend to senior citizens and constant champion of their cause. They will miss him, and so should we all. He and John McCormack were exemplars of politics at its finest.

Mr. FRANK. Mr. Speaker, a year ago today, I and many others were quoting JIMMY BURKE on one of the subjects on which he was an expert—both in terms of the facts involved, and even more important, in terms of the principles which ought to be brought to bear. I am referring to social security, and to the phrase with which JIMMY BURKE argued so tirelessly for a better and more equitable system: "One-third, one-third, one-third,"—which means general revenues to help pay for social security, medicare, and disability.

JIM BURKE knew that system well and he knew long before many others that corrective action would be necessary if we were to preserve the principle that social security ought to provide older people in their retirement with a life of dignity and comfort and security. He correctly pointed out that financing the system entirely by a somewhat regressive payroll tax on the employer and the employee was not enough, and that a significant infusion of general revenues would be needed both to improve the equity of the tax base of social security, and to provide an adequate benefit level. While many supposed experts and others refused to listen, JIM BURKE crusaded for this idea. He was right then and his idea remains right today.

But it was not only as a staunch defender of social security that JIM BURKE endeared himself to the people of Massachusetts, to his colleagues in Congress, and to others. His candor, his wit, his friendliness, and his dedication to the people he served were distinguishing marks in an outstanding public career. At a time when people are concerned about artificiality in our politics, and about a tendency for the cosmetic to outweight the substantive, it does us all good to remember the straightforward and effective style and substance of the late JAMES BURKE.

All of us in Massachusetts mourn his passing.

Mr. MARKEY. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague for calling this special order to honor our late colleague JIMMY BURKE. His recent death was a loss to the people of Massachusetts and the people of our Nation. He served both of them well and his family deserves our condolences.

When I came to Congress in 1976, JIMMY BURKE was at the end of a long and distinguished career. As a young Congressman, JIMMY BURKE provided a good example of someone who picked out an issue important to the people of our Nation, social security, and mastered the issue to the point where he had the respect of all his colleagues. As chairman of the Subcommittee on Social Security, JIMMY BURKE watched over the rise of our social security system and nurtured its growth. He was responsible for the difficult amendments passed in 1978, and the passage of that act stands as a final tribute to his skill as legislator, chairman, and compassionate citizen.

Any Member would be proud of the career of JIMMY BURKE. For 20 years he represented the people of the 11th District. And for 20 years he looked after the senior citizens of this country, long before many other people recognized the unique problems of our senior citizens. JIMMY BURKE also fought hard on an issue which is now becoming popular: fairness.

Throughout his career in Congress and his efforts on the social security system, JIMMY BURKE felt that the poor of this country were paying too much of their income for social security. His championing of the formula one-third, one-third, one-third is a tribute to his touch with the common man. The best thing about JIMMY BURKE was that even though he enjoyed power and influence in Washington, he never lost touch with the people of the 11th District and never forgot that they were the reason he was here.

When JIMMY BURKE decided not to run in 1978, he said one should "leave while the music is playing." As a young Congressman who was facing his first reelection, that statement showed me a lot of class, and I admired his ability to retire with grace and honor. JIMMY BURKE left while the music was playing, and they were playing his song. He will be sorely missed by the people of Massachusetts and the Members of this body, and I extend my sincere sympathy to his wife and his family.

Mr. MONTGOMERY. Mr. Speaker, I was sorry to hear of the passing of former Representative JAMES A. BURKE. I had the privilege to serve with him in this Chamber for 12 years and during that time, I found him to be a delightful and entertaining man. In addition, he was one of the best public speakers this House has ever had.

I am proud to have had the chance to work with JIMMY BURKE. I know he was well respected by his colleagues as well as the people of Massachusetts he represented so well between 1959 and 1979. He was an outstanding leader and he will be missed.

Mr. RINALDO. Mr. Speaker, I noted with deep sadness the passing of a former colleague, Representative JAMES A. BURKE of Massachusetts, and today I join with my colleagues in the House in remembering the accomplishments of a champion of the Nation's elderly.

Although we served on opposite sides of the aisle, I was well aware of and admired the joy, enthusiasm, and tireless attitude he brought to his work. The record shows his loyalty to his country and the service that he gave to the Government. He held public office for more than 40 years beginning in the State legislature then serving as registrar in Boston. During World War II he served in the Army with counterintelligence.

During his 20 years of service in the House, he loyally championed and creatively contributed to legislation which significantly improved the welfare of the elderly. He served on the Banking and Currency Committee and the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation before taking his post on the powerful Ways and Means Committee. As the vice chairman of that committee and the chairman of the Social Security Subcommittee, he fought to maintain the integrity of the social security system. His career in politics was an expression of the genuine compassion and sincere warmth that he felt for his fellow man.

He had an unique opportunity to contribute creatively and constructively to the welfare of the Nation's elderly and we can say that he was always more than equal to the task. The House and the elderly of this Nation had a cherished friend in JIM BURKE, and I would like to express my sympathy and condolences to his widow and those of us who will miss him.

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to pay tribute to a truly fine man, a dear friend who served the people of Massachusetts for 20 years. I am speaking of the late Congressman JAMES A. BURKE, who passed away last Thursday in Boston.

From 1959 to 1979, JIMMY BURKE was an uncompromising advocate for the rights of the poor and the elderly. He was a scrappy defender of the sacred trust placed in Government to protect its citizens from want, hunger, and poverty. No one can doubt his total commitment to making America a land of opportunity for Americans of all faiths and races. This was his dream, and this was his cause.

I was particularly saddened by his untimely death because I knew him well. His position as chairman of the Ways and Means Social Security Subcommittee suited him perfectly, and he tutored me well in the inner workings of the committee. He was a man of great vigor who was a mentor for many young Members of the House. I feel privileged to have known him intimately.

There will never be another man like JIMMY BURKE. His legacy is unique, and can only be admired. God bless him.

Mr. ADDABBO. Mr. Speaker, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in fact, the entire United States of America, lost a fine public servant and citizen when former Representative JAMES BURKE succumbed to a long illness last Thursday after a valiant fight. His colleagues admire his courage and his strength.

JIMMY BURKE began his public service career at a time when America was struggling to pull itself out of depression. Years later, he would remember the suffering caused by economic despair as he sought out assistance for declining industries in his district.

When the country threw its energies against the Axis nations in World War II, JAMES BURKE was there, serving in the Army. While in the Massachusetts Legislature, he maintained a keen sense of his constituents' needs and wishes. During his years in Congress, he returned frequently to his district and grew to know his constituents even better. From them he took a wish to improve the quality of life for our Nation's elderly and translated it into legislation for an equitable social security system.

He was a great legislator—we shared many battles, and I learned a great deal from him. There was no one whose advice was more trusted; he was a great friend. He served his community in so many ways, always taking an active part in charitable and religious institutions. My deepest condolences go out to his dear wife, Aileen, and to the rest of his family. I join them and my colleagues in mourning the loss of a fine patriot, brave man, and true friend.

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I join with my colleagues in mourning the passage of, and commemorating the career of, one of the great Members of Congress of our time.

JIMMY BURKE died this October 13, but we shall always remember him, and the country will always benefit from his good deeds.

He was a wise and seasoned veteran of Congress when I joined the Ways and Means Committee in 1975, and JIMMY was one of those who helped teach and mold me in the ways of the committee, and in concerns for the elderly and retired.

I know JIMMY is famous throughout Massachusetts for his meticulous attention—one could almost say care and feeding—of constituents.

But he was also a fine national statesman, a leader on social security and a prophet on the need to make major reforms in the system.

In the past 4 years, and particularly under this administration, the poverty level has climbed to 15 percent, the highest level since 1965. But for the first time in our Nation's history, the elderly and retired poverty rate is below the national average. Much of this is due to the great work for social security that JIMMY BURKE did during his tenure on Ways and Means.

With his constant companion of a cigar, JIMMY often looked like something out of a novel about old politicians—but he was a forward thinker, with the best interests of the Nation and his people safe in his magnanimous heart.

Mr. MAZZOLI. Mr. Speaker, I was saddened to learn of the recent passing of one of our former colleagues in the House, Representative JAMES A. BURKE of Massachusetts.

I remember JIMMY well. He was a delightful man, a great story teller and a wit whose humor enlivened many moments in Congress. JIMMY was also a capable, knowledgeable, and effective Representative who served the people of Massachusetts well during his years in the House. It was a privilege to serve with JIMMY BURKE.

JIMMY's passing is a loss to all of us who knew him. I extend my condolences to his family.

Mr. BIAGGI. Mr. Speaker, it is a sad duty to join with the Members of the Massachusetts delegation in marking the passing of one of their finest former Members—and indeed one of the most distinguished of all people to serve in the House—JAMES A. "JIMMY" BURKE who passed away last week in his beloved Boston.

JIMMY BURKE was more than a Member of Congress in the eyes of the people of the 11th Congressional District. He was one of them in the truest sense of the word—his problems became his causes in Washington. He saw the needy and disadvantaged and he helped. He evaluated legislation not just as a technician but from the human side of things. Many of his bills were remedies to the problems affecting people.

JIMMY BURKE's best service to the House and Nation was his work as chairman of the Subcommittee on Social Security of the House Ways and Means Committee. Here was a man who proved to be ahead of his time with respect to social security. All of my colleagues remember earlier this year when we were compelled to pass H.R. 1900 the Social Security Act Amendments of 1983—to rescue the system from certain collapse. If the House and Senate had only listened more to JIMMY BURKE, the problem might not have been that severe.

JIMMY BURKE was the author of a bill which I was proud to cosponsor each and every time it was offered. It called for the financing of social security under the so-called one-third/one-third/one-third plan with the first third coming from employee contribution, the second third from employer contribution, and the final third from general revenues.

As it turned out had this limited infusion of general revenues been approved at that time, we might not have been forced to swallow some of the bitter medicine we have had too, to rescue the system.

JIMMY BURKE was a hero to the elderly of this Nation not only because of his work on social security but also on medicare. He saw the need for a program to provide for the health care needs of the elderly—and was there to see medicare developed and implemented into law.

JIMMY was also a prophet in another critical area of policy today—trade. He saw the need for the United States to maintain a strong and favorable balance of trade and not become too reliant on imports. An example of this was his strong advocacy for increased development of coal and its export out of the country.

Yet on a time such as this—we are better served to remember the remarkable man who was JIMMY BURKE. He was a man of enormously quick wit and geniality. He was a man blessed with a great sense of humor. He was outspoken but always eloquent. He was a man of deep commitment and conviction but his strong suit was compassion. He loved the people of his district and loved being part of their lives. He was a familiar site at community events—church functions, parades, weddings, dinners, and the rest.

JAMES ANTHONY was a good and dear friend of mine for the 10 years we served together in the House. We were colleagues on the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, and often spoke about his pet projects—the Fore River Shipyard—the largest employer in his district. JIMMY BURKE was an advocate for a strong merchant marine and saw its importance to our economy. JIMMY BURKE was a man who had many friends but probably more than that admirers. He was respected and even revered.

JIMMY BURKE set a standard of excellence which most would aspire to but few will achieve.

JIMMY BURKE was elected to Congress to do a job. Few have done it as well. He combined an unyielding advocacy for the needs of his constituents with a most impressive array of legislative accomplishments during his 20 years. He was elected his way—he worked here his way and when he retired he did it his way.

I join with all who were graced by having known JIMMY BURKE in honoring him today. I express my most sincere condolences to his widow Aileen as well as his two sisters Elizabeth and Margarita and his two brothers Walter and Arthur. I assure all of them that the memory of JIMMY BURKE will linger for years to come in this House.

Mr. OTTINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to join my many colleagues who knew him in paying respects to the Honorable JAMES A. BURKE of Boston, Mass.

JIM was one of the most ebullient, friendly, helpful Members in this body. As important and burdensome as were his responsibilities he always had time for a young Member like me to offer advice, guidance, and assistance with mastering the intricacies of the House.

Of JIM's many substantive accomplishments, what stands out is his service to older Americans. He played the key role in expanding social security coverage and adding medicare and medicaid to secure our seniors against medical devastation.

Every year I joined JIM on his assault on social security financing, seeking to restore the original concept of one-third, one-third, one-third funding from general revenues as well as employees and employers. The objective will be achieved one day, and it will be a tribute to the groundwork JIM established.

JIM's good humor, wit, and ability made him one of the best loved and best respected Members of the House. We lost a good friend and pillar of this body when JIM passed away last Thursday. His wonderful family can take comfort in the full, productive, and giving life he led. There was a man.

Mr. FORD of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, JIMMY BURKE was a great friend and a great Member of Congress. There have been many fine words written about him and he is deserving of every one of them. His death means we have lost an outstanding individual who enriched the lives of his constituents in Massachusetts as well as the lives of his fellow colleagues in Congress.

JIMMY had a marvelous sense of humor and was an excellent public speaker. He chose his words carefully and always used them in going to bat for the rights of the poor and the elderly. JIMMY's advice to us all will be missed, but I will continue to have many fond memories of this wonderful man. My sincere sympathies to his family.

Mr. ZABLOCKI. Mr. Speaker, like many other Members of this body, I was deeply saddened to learn of the recent death of our former colleague, the late JAMES A. BURKE of Massachusetts. Unfortunately, I was unable to participate in the discussion of his many personal and legislative accomplishments, which took place on this floor on October 20, but I would like to register, although belatedly, my own admiration for JIM BURKE's outstanding record of public service as well as for his fine character and unique personality.

The tributes which were paid to JIM BURKE on this floor, and which have subsequently been printed in the Record, are most eloquent and appropriate, as they document a lifetime of unselfish, dedicated service to his local community, his constituents, and the Nation. I can add very little of substance to those remarks or most especially, to the eulogy which was delivered at the Mass in his behalf and which so aptly summarized the personal qualities for which he will be long remembered.

As other Members have noted, JIM BURKE's long tenure on the Ways and Means Committee was characterized by his unremitting efforts in behalf of the disadvantaged in our society—the sick, the elderly, the handicapped, and the unemployed. His legacy are the many programs he helped to establish and improve, such as medicare, medicaid, supplementary security income for the elderly, the blind, and the disabled—to mention just a few.

As a colleague and a friend, he will be sorely missed in the years ahead. Above all, however, he will be missed by the people across the Nation to whom he dedicated so much time and effort in a long and distinguished public career.

To his widow, his family, and his many devoted admirers, I want to take this opportunity to extend my deepest sympathy.

Mr. JACOBS. Mr. Speaker, "Who did not like JIMMY BURKE?"

Our fallen colleague, JAMES BURKE of Massachusetts, was the quintessential man in motion. He made us laugh. He made us think. He made us care.

JIMMY BURKE was a rugged individualist in a sea of conformity and his memory should guide us.

Proceedings in the Senate

THURSDAY, October 20, 1983.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, a week ago JIMMY BURKE passed away. JIMMY was my respected colleague, my dear friend, and a distinguished Member of the House of Representatives for 20 years.

In those two decades, JIMMY established himself as an effective advocate on the issues of social security and medicare. He worked tirelessly to improve the lives of all Americans, especially those that had been left out or left behind. They knew that in JIMMY BURKE, they had a friend.

I always trusted JIMMY's counsel, and I treasured his friendship. And I think that I speak for all of Massachusetts, and all of Congress, when I say that the memory of JIMMY BURKE's warmth, compassion, and sense of humor will remain with us always.

The article by Thomas Oliphant that appeared in the Boston Globe on October 16 brilliantly commemorates JIMMY BURKE's career. I would ask that this article and the obituary that appeared in the October 14 Globe be printed in the Congressional Record at this point.

[From the Boston (Mass.) Globe, Oct. 16, 1983]

BURKE WAS ONE OF GOOD ONES

(By Thomas Oliphant)

WASHINGTON.—Vice President George Bush, who was born in Milton, was a busy man Friday, but not so busy that he couldn't pause to remember a man who settled in Milton, of whom he became quite fond in his days as a Congressman from Texas.

Said the Vice President of the late Representative JAMES A. BURKE: "I knew him well; he was a close friend from our days on the Ways and Means Committee. He was a wonderful and warm human being."

There was a little of George Burns in BURKE's eyes, which often twinkled mischievously, and when he had a big cigar in hand and his dry, mordant wit was switched on—which was most of the time—the resemblance could get even stronger.

Representative BURKE, quintessentially of Massachusetts and of the Democratic Party, was never unaware of his props; no public figure is. What distinguished his was that they were so uniformly endearing, an important clue to his character, which was carved out of Quincy quarry-quality stone.

More complex conceptions aside, there are really only three kinds of Congressmen—the good ones, the forgettable ones, and the bad ones.

Representative BURKE—who died Thursday at 73 after a long, dignified struggle with diabetes—was one of those consummately good Congressmen, whose careers can teach us important lessons about politics and public service. One of the most important of those lessons is that there is no conflict between good politics and good government when the practitioners are people of character.

It would be unfortunate if the occasion of BURKE's death were occupied too much by rhetorical encomiums and old stories of his 20-year congressional career (1959–79) and his time in the Massachusetts Legislature before that.

For the people he represented in Congress—the southern part of Boston and the South Shore—this diligent Representative took a couple of important stands on national issues that are as relevant today as they were a decade ago.

The first one has helped get across the job-saving message that in foreign trade there is a line beyond which Uncle Sam becomes Uncle Sucker. Representative BURKE put his name on a tough antisubsidized imports bill a decade ago that included rigorous quota provisions. He was widely excoriated for this—often by people more interested in economic abstractions and buzz words like protectionism than in shoeworkers in Brockton who were losing their jobs to imports that were being dumped on the U.S. market.

JAMES BURKE was in Congress, among other reasons, because he knew how to count, and was never under any illusions that his labor-backed measure would become law. But what he also knew, and never really got credit for knowing, was that until somebody got tough on Capitol Hill, the U.S. Government would never get credibly tough in foreign trade negotiations.

In the years that followed, more than one American diplomat won important points across felt negotiating tables by saying in effect: "I hope you realize that if you don't give me something to take back to Washington there's this rough guy BURKE in Congress, and he has this bill that is really going to hurt you."

Today, the United States is a much more forceful negotiator on trade issues—not unfair, just more forceful—and the willingness of people like Representative BURKE to get out front politically is one of the reasons.

His second important stand involved social security. As a key member of the Ways and Means Committee, his fingerprints were all over two legislative accomplishments—each pushed past an obstructionist President Richard Nixon—that saved millions of elderly people from devastation during the inflation of the 1970's. One was the establishment of a special pool for cash assistance to the elderly poor, the blind and the disabled (supplemental security income): the other was the indexing of social security benefits to the rate of inflation.

Later, when Ways and Means formed subcommittees, and he chaired the one on Social Security, he championed an idea whose time may yet come, and which could have been the Democratic Party's alternative to Reaganomics. It was to finance the system as other industrial democracies do—one-third from general government revenues raised mostly through progressive income taxes; one-third from workers' payroll taxes; and one-third from an equal payroll levy on the employer.

The resulting tax cuts (from the present 50–50 split for workers and employers) would have stimulated consumer demand and business investment, with nowhere near the impact on the Federal budget deficit of the Reagan administration's program.

JAMES BURKE was totally without pretense or ego; in a quiet way, though, he was a far more thoughtful, issue-oriented man than many people realized, in many respects ahead of his time.

JAMES A. BURKE OF MILTON: CONGRESSMAN FOR TWO DECADES

Former Representative JAMES A. BURKE of Milton, who served two decades in the U.S. House and 10 years in the Massachusetts Legislature before that, died yesterday in New England Deaconess Hospital after a long illness. He was 73.

The self-styled "bread and butter Congressman" of the 11th District retired in January 1979. He was first elected to the post in 1958.

Confined to a wheelchair since the loss of his right foot in July 1977, "JIMMY," as he was known, decided not to seek reelection. ("Leave while the music is playing," he said.) He also had been plagued with respiratory troubles, failing eyesight, and diabetes in his last years in Congress, but he never complained.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said of Mr. BURKE, "He was one of the most beloved men ever to serve in Congress."

Since retirement, Mr. BURKE had been active in the Catholic Charitable Bureau and the State commission for the blind.

In his 20 years on Capitol Hill, the shy, affable Democratic Congressman was the architect of considerable social security and medicare legislation. He served as chairman of the Ways and Means Subcommittee on Social Security and worked tirelessly to improve the system.

"JIMMY was a great champion of the Golden Agers of this country," O'Neill said.

Mr. BURKE also was the Congressman in charge of the investigation by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation of President Richard M. Nixon's income taxes, resulting from questions raised by the Internal Revenue Service about the huge deduction Nixon took in 1969, for donating his Vice Presidential papers.

From the time in the late 1930's when he moved from his Hyde Park real estate business into politics, Mr. BURKE's career was a steady climb that seldom faltered.

In 1938, during his first term in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, he was appointed to a second job, that of registrar of vital statistics for the city, by Boston's Mayor Maurice J. Tobin. After some months as registrar, he resigned to run against then Representative John W. McCormack for McCormack's 12th District congressional seat.

Mr. BURKE, a kindly man with a wry wit, later recalled: "I had 400 volunteers going all over the district. They'd go from door to door and tell people they were working for me, that I was running for Congress. People were nice until they asked my volunteers who I was running against.

"They'd say, 'He's running against John McCormack' and the people would slam the door."

He was beaten only one other time—when he ran for Lieutenant Governor in 1954.

When Mr. BURKE learned that Representative Richard Wigglesworth was retiring in 1958 from the then heavily Republican 13th District, he filed as a Democrat to run for the spot. He won handily and continued to win thereafter with little opposition. In four campaigns the Republicans failed to field a candidate.

Mr. BURKE opposed, but survived, redistricting, which brought his Milton home area into the 11th District, comprising the cities of Quincy and Brockton and some 11 towns south of Boston.

In Congress he served on key committees and subcommittees including, in addition to Ways and Means, Joint Committees on Internal Revenue Taxation and Budget Outlay and Control.

But it was his work with social security with which he was most closely identified. He felt that people with low incomes were paying too high a percentage of their wages for social security while those earning large incomes were paying less than they could easily afford.

He was a longtime advocate of changing the social security financing formula from 50–50 contributions by employees and employers to one-third from both and the remaining one-third from general revenue.

He urged the utility companies to switch back to coal, declaring the country had at least 100 years of coal available.

Colleagues in Congress were lavish in their praise of Mr. BURKE.

Senator Edward Kennedy said: "JIMMY BURKE was one of those rare public servants who never lost touch with the common man, nor felt any sense of importance no matter what the honor or accolade was bestowed upon him."

Representative Edward P. Boland (D-Mass.) said: "People came to JIMMY BURKE with their problems because they knew that in him they had not only a sympathetic listener but an experienced and resourceful advocate."

Representative Brian Donnelly (D-Mass.), who succeeded Mr. BURKE in Congress, said: "Mr. BURKE's passing is a tremendous loss. He was loved and respected by the people of the 11th District that he knew and served so well for so many years."

Mr. BURKE was always available to his constituents. A kindly man of medium height and stocky build, he made frequent visits home to cater to their needs.

The Fore River Shipyard, his area's largest employer, was one of his pet projects and any of its problems had top priority in his office. He also searched high and low for aid to cranberry growers, ailing shoe and textile industries threatened by cheap foreign competition, and the New England fishing industry.

The retired Congressman was born JAMES ANTHONY BURKE in South Boston on Mar. 30, 1910, the youngest of 10 children. He grew up in Mattapan and Hyde Park, where his family had a large vegetable garden that supplied much of the neighborhood.

He was a graduate of English High School and attended Suffolk Law School.

During World War II, he served as a special agent in Army counterintelligence attached to the 77th Infantry Division in the South Pacific.

He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, AMVETS, the Knights of Columbus, and Eagles.

Mr. BURKE leaves his wife, Aileen (McDonald); two sisters, Elizabeth Burke and Margarita Burke, both of Hyde Park; and two brothers, Walter of Hyde Park, and Arthur of Dorchester.

Before he died, Mr. BURKE set up the James A. Burke Scholarship Fund to benefit the schools at St. Angela's Church, Mattapan; St. Mary of the Hills Church, Milton, and St. Gregory's Church, Dorchester.

A funeral Mass will be said Monday at 10 a.m. in St. Mary of the Hills Church.
